A few things that I feel should be obvious about this: First, if you're intending to run a negative campaign, then you're facing a huge uphill battle. I would be very surprised if, within this group, any of us was in a position to effectively make an independent judgement about it. Second, this must be a very small group. A group that has no "invisible majority". A group which cannot be relied on to effect the return of PEGIDA, as they are outnumbered by people determined to keep them out. And third, unless this group has changed recently, then it cannot possibly be as large as they claim. And it's really difficult to believe that it's as large as they claim. So what is the real size of this group? That I'm not sure of. They claim to have between "hundreds" and "1 82157476af
